For over 20 years, our key professionals have worked together building custom learning solutions for corporations, associations, and government agencies. Epsilon Learning Solutions combines technical expertise with creative concepts to deliver results.

Whether your project requires the latest mobile-based training or traditional print media, you will benefit by teaming with our skilled professionals: project managers, instructional designers, technical writers, graphic designers, web developers, database developers, QA professionals.

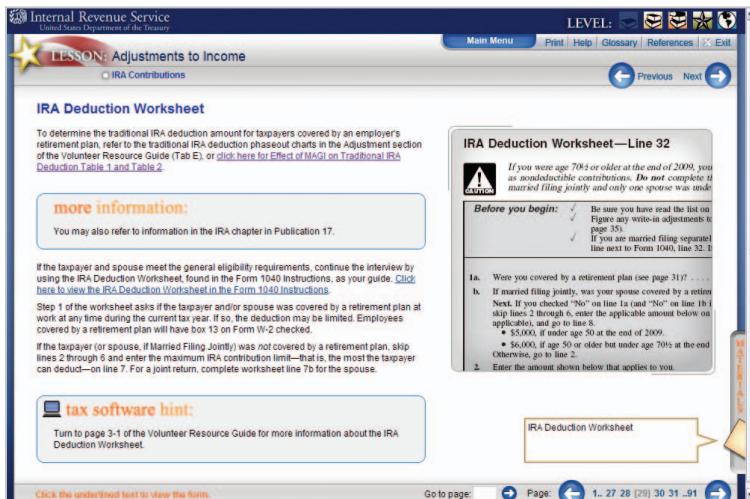

Our collaborative development process revolves around you, starting with identifying your learning objectives. From there, our process enables efficient development of a single lesson or a comprehensive curriculum, an hour of training or two hundred hours.

A Custom Approach to Your Training

Epsilon Learning Solutions is adept at defining a training blend tailored to your learning requirements, modularized, and supporting self-paced delivery for “anytime, anywhere” access.

Our learning products are engaging, with creative graphics, branching scenarios, game interactions, and other innovative technology-based solutions. We match the solution to your needs, budget, audience, and schedule.

Instructional Design

We apply industry-recognized instructional design approaches and standards that ensure learning and retention in order to improve organizational performance and effectiveness.

We are experienced in technical writing and curriculum development for a variety of media including online, video, and print.

Visual Design and Media Development

Design of the learning interface evolves from the creative treatment, specifications, and functional strategy agreed upon in project planning. Our graphic designers, illustrators, and animators have extensive experience creating support for learning objectives. We'll communicate your concept with appealing and effective media to engage the learner and enhance comprehension.

Instructor-Led Training

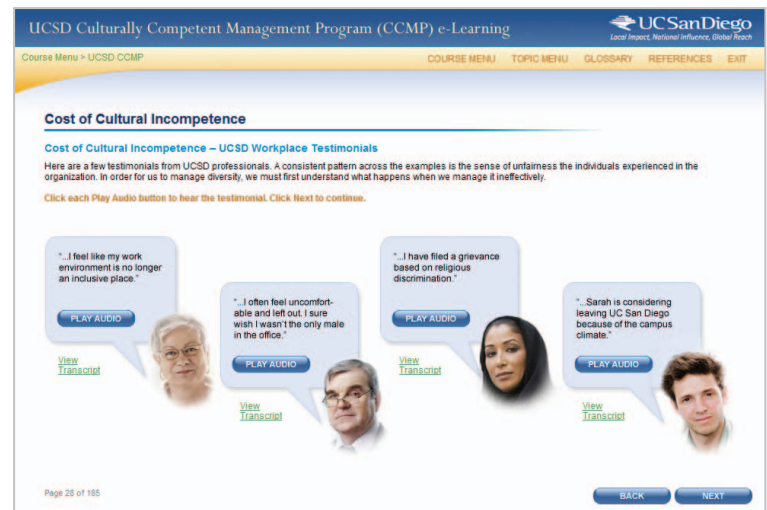

Epsilon Learning Solutions provides comprehensive learning tools that go beyond e-learning. We design and develop a range of ILT support: instructor/student guides, presentations, handouts, assessments, and promotional materials.

Performance Support

Our self-study guides, learning portals, job aids, and help systems guide your workers in performing their jobs effectively. We've created support tools for operating and troubleshooting equipment, using software, analyzing information, configuring systems, and following organizational procedures.

Assessment, Certification, and Evaluation

Epsilon Learning Solutions designs and develops both print and online certification tests and assessments to measure learning outcomes. Our assessment tools provide a data-driven approach to analyzing the effectiveness of learning programs and measuring performance.

LMS Integration

Tracking completion is a vital component of workplace training efforts. Epsilon Learning Solutions provides in-depth expertise in LMS connectivity and support. Our staff is experienced in constructing metadata tagging, testing with industry-standard tools, and providing manifest files and packaged course files that integrate with any SCORM-compliant LMS.
